Pretty good.Q: How to save data in database in swift, with Multiple table view I am trying to learn Swift programming Language and I am having problem for a long time. So i have a user profile and after clicking the login button it will enter data in a table view after logging in successfully. The data entered in table view can be edited, as the user has chosen his or her own photo and filled up profile info and save it to a database. I am using Swift 4 and iOS 9.2. The problem I am having is that I want to be able to add another table view with different information for each user. The new data should save in the database, and there should be an update button to edit the changes made to the data, so that when logged in, we can go back and add new data. I have created a project to work on, i have been stuck on this problem for a while. I have made many attempts but i can't seem to get the desired result, and I have a feeling that it is very easy and i have probably just been looking at it the wrong way. I would really appreciate your help and i would like to mention that I am a complete beginner to Swift Programming

My.xib file contains two table view controllers, One which is in portrait and the other in Landscape format. 1) UserProfileTableViewController, in this i have a textfield, a button to save the textfield data, a button to save the image in the photo library, a button to save the image on the internet. (supports both picture and text) and a button to enter the new data, and a button to take the previous data. 2) UserTableViewController in this i have a textfield, a button to save the textfield data, a button to save the image in the photo library, a button to save the image on the internet. (supports both picture and text) and a button to enter the new data, and a button to take the previous data. This is my code for UserTable
