The new boot was made for greater performance, with an 8mm better boot stiffness and harder “Pulsar” blade. The new boot is softer inside the foot, with the instep notably more stiff. The forefoot is also larger than before, with the boot width increased by 5 mm. The redesigned boot is more similar to last year’s, with a rounder ball shape, increased bladder volume, thinner boot plates and a new lacing system. The most noticeable change is the new sock design, which has a different cut compared to last year, and features the Puma logo on the back of the calf. Goalkeeper Gloves and Headgear New goalie gloves incorporate high-tech technology to give goalkeepers an improved sense of touch, precise positioning and ball control. The glove has a new thinner profile, allowing the goalkeeper to have better touch on the ball. Goalkeeper headgear has been redesigned for greater comfort and improved visibility. The gear is stiffer, and provides better tactile feedback and improved feeling when passing and heading the ball. For more on the new game features, check out the new trailer above.
