Multicentric Castleman disease is an uncommon, lymphoproliferative disorder that is characterized by a systemic proliferation of B-lymphocyte-rich lymph nodes. The condition is associated with an increased risk of non-Hodgkin lymphoma and hematologic disorders. Although it has been reported that patients with Castleman disease often present with extranodal lesions, the association between dermatologic lesions and multicentric Castleman disease has not been studied. Five cases of multicentric Castleman disease with dermatologic lesions are described
