Start the assault of Heavyarms Assemble: WWII at the end of World War II. The new game is a tribute to the G.I. JOE team in their attempt to protect American vehicles against enemies they are. You will play as "Agent M," a member of a special team that will protect vehicles of the last moments in the war. Your mission is to protect the heavy military vehicles of the war at the end of the conflict. Your mission takes you to the highly secret bunker of the last hold for the military vehicles of American war in the West. Here you will have to defeat the enemies and protect the G.I. JOE vehicles. Take control of history and set your victory on the battlefield of the last year of the war in WWII. There is still lot of weapons and soldiers to collect and eliminate enemies! Experience the action!The Soundtracks come in MP3 and WAV format, available for free download. As you know, every game, game theme or game soundtrack has its own distinct characteristics and style. Racing series Tinker Racers About developer Thar Vaz is a game composer for many video games. His work includes titles like Guitar Hero World Tour, Bionic Commando Rearmed, Transformers: Fall of Cybertron, and I Am Bread, to name a few. Thar has released over 25 albums with the band Samba De Amigo. He currently resides in Wichita, Kansas. The original Soundtracks for Tinker Racers, specially composed by Thar Vaz, in MP3 and WAV format. About Tinker Racers: We have a new game that has your friends racing in what looks like a random salt mine, a mysterious asteroid field or maybe even a war zone! Take control of Tinker Rodeo's dynamic vehicles and experience the pure racing fun! If you are ready for craziness and crazy fun, then it's time to tinker, race and load up on bullets. We are working on a new game that takes you to a world that is highly reminiscent of B-Movies but with your friends and your modern day vehicles. In this game, you will race in a world that will transport you to an ancient salt mine, a mysterious asteroid field, a possibly even a war zone! The game will also take you through different vehicles that will allow you to tinker and race with your friends. Experience a completely different type of gaming experience

Features Key:

- Story: The original Lair can be played from the wolf point of view with no outside character controls. This upgrade will allow you to play as Buffy and Angel from the game's beginning.
- Re-write: By moving the game into an all second character set-up, the story will focus on the characters from the start, eliminating a large part of the game development process.
- Layers: In keeping with the new character design allowing you to switch characters at will, each of the main characters will have a corresponding "layer", i.e. you will have to press the button corresponding to the character you want to control. This will make it easier to switch between characters as well as view the next encounter.
- Game mechanics: Lair2 will also feature in-built issues effects such as targeted attacks, poison and taunts.

Swords: You need a Sword to throw the sword in order to deflect the enemy projectiles, but not just a sword with any kind of material. We have developed new swords which are made of rocks, crystals, plants, and so on, because the nature wants us to discover them and study them. The only thing they can do is be a pretty good weapon for us.

Racing: This is a part of the game where you'll find the Travel levels with their own game dynamics. The beauty of these levels is that you can choose to activate one of the different gameplay methods, for example you can decide to have a cool, sprinting marathon while driving for many kilometers without braking and ending the level when you've arrived to the desired location in time. Fantastic Worlds and enemies: Aniquilation is a Twin Stick shooter set in small planets (some of which can be terraformed as you play!) in which not only your shoots, but also the enemies and planet environment are your weapon thanks to your SWORD which you can use to throw or reflect almost ALL the elements in the environment! The reason why we call these elements (almost all of them) weapons is because they make us feel more powerful and it becomes harder to beat us. We like the idea of trying to explore planets with no life (it's called anitlife) but as we don't want to make the player is sick at the beginning of the game we decided to have the player breathing the polluted air of planets infected with techno virus. You will follow the adventures of a pilot and her leader who are wandering in space and are trying to return to their home Galaxy and got lost after trying to solve a mystery that arrived to their galaxy. As you progress you'll discover that it wasn't just a coincidence that the heroes arrived to this specific mysterious galaxy and will understand why the only solution is invoking the fabled "Aniquilation" upon the galaxy! Throughout the game, we'll tell you about the Galaxy, its history and how you got there, giving you the opportunity to explore small planets. Game Modes: Story: Set to where you're taking a look at the game. From here you'll see the introductory video, the graphics, main and all other game play features. You'll be asked the question: Does the player want to keep playing? Co-Op:

Cavebound is a 2D platformer with a focus on short levels and story-driven progression. After choosing your character, you will be sent underground to a mine to deliver goods for your boss. After that you have a number of tasks to complete, and eventually you'll have to fight the monster. Looking for "Gamestar Mechanic's" or "Project: Starbound" players? I'm a new player, but am looking for a game like Gamestar Mechanic's or Project: Starbound. The Sword of the Stars is a science fiction turn-based strategy game with a tactical layer where you can design a small fleet of ships to collect resources and establish colonies in locations of interest. The game was developed by Christopher Barras, who also wrote the strategy game Empire Earth, and was directed by John Howe, who also worked on games like Master of Orion and Empire: Total War. The game was released in 1998 for personal computers, and then later in 1999 for the Game Boy Color and PlayStation 2, followed by a PlayStation port in 2000. The title was launched in 1998 on the personal computer, Game Boy Color, and PlayStation 2 platforms. The game emphasizes real-time strategy, including its built-in 3D engine. It was part of The 3DO Company's strategy game franchise which consisted of four games, Sword of the Stars, Space Rangers, Space Command and Supernova, developed by System 3 and published by 3DO. The series also had a very different approach

What's new:

- Mission Update Olive Town expansion is happening! This season we're looking at the early days, and clearing the way for expansions. The town was created in Sept 2014. Story of Seasons is a farming simulator. May it be plowed and arid, or flourishing and flourishing. It covers the next-gen farming simulator genre. Expansion Pass intro video: Hi everyone, Stellaris here. I made an episode about the story of Seasons back in March, a couple of months after we started. It's a look at what the game was, why we started this project, and how we got here. Story of Seasons history: Last Harvest 2015: Story of Seasons was born to help support her grandfather, brugsr and his family. Her Granadeer was having heart attack before and after each harvest. Used to be a medic, but became enamored by agriculture. Her grandfather decided to find a young couple who would be passionate about farming to support the Granadeer, who was near his dying. He came across a young couple, Adrian and Anitta. They tried to make a living off their farm like everyone else in town, but were still missing a number of features that made it easier. They came to Sanford. Story of Seasons: Pioneers of Olive Town - Expansion Pass Intro: Granadeer was having heart attacks. Ophelia's grandmother wasn't recovering from a heart attack. Around the same time that Granadeer was having heart attack, Ophelia, Adelaide, Toru, Vincent, and Jackson find Sanford. "I'm not sick... but I need to see someone.” Granadeer was having heart attacks, wasn’t recovering, and Vincent had heart attack once. He helped them to return to Sanford, which was where everyone was living. Granadeer said that she wanted to start their own town. Idea Month 2014: The main goal for this month was seed upload. Instead of doing that in Sept, starting its own town has not been forgotten. Idea Month 2015: Farming takes more account into the world and cannot be taken out of it. There is also still the new building; Granadeer’s estate. The link was made as a more expansive feature, which using the a storage box that stores everything that Granadeer wants to

Breakfast places are famous for their delicious food. While you enjoy the pancakes and waffles, couldn't you do them all a favor and take the luggage for the guests arriving at the airport? You can't miss your flight if you don't clean the rooms first. So, grab your roller cleaning tool and jump into the exciting world of DinerTown®. You will need to go through the four levels of a diner, from frying the breakfast items all the way to cleaning the rooms and delivering all the luggage. You will see lots of new items and read the instructions for all new tasks. Don't forget to collect the tips by the end of the day. There are more than 90 upgrades to collect and you will unlock some of them if you complete several levels. As you play, you may want to clean some areas you missed before opening the VIP room to give your guests a nice surprise. NOTE: If the progress bar goes to 100% when it should be hovering around 10% during game play, try playing in "airplane mode." If you have WiFi the whole time, you can be easily distracted. Click to expand... Hey there, I'm a little late on this review but I'm really new to this game. I haven't unlocked the store yet. The level building is challenging and I'm playing over and over to get the last few things. I have trouble reading the text as it's done really well in this game. It's a beautiful looking game but hard to read. The balloons in the background (pictures) distract from this game. I like the way you can decorate the hotel rooms and the food looks good. My one suggestion would be to add the word "tips" in that top right corner that says cash and a dollar sign but the picture stays the same. I would say to add the actual word "tips" in that corner. That's the only thing I found to be difficult with this game. I really like the game and I recommend it so far. I have had this for just over a week and it's really solid. The first point of criticism I would raise is that the menu screen is slow to move between screens. After playing so many different games in the last year it seems silly to have a menu system this slow. That said, the actual game and mechanics are spot-on. I like the simplicity of this game, and there are many fun little things that make this game sweet. The presentation
