How can you not love a wedding movie whose first pages of dialogue are just the word Fuck As much as we commiserate, this is ultimately Hugh Grants movie. And a little Andie MacDowells movie. But mostly Hugh Grants. Its the film that introduced us to his stumbling, bumbling, yet confident Etonian charms and wit (which wed witness again and again in Nine Months, Notting Hill, Music and Lyrics, About a Boy, and more). The story of Grant and his friends attending their friends weddingsand one funeralperfectly captured the romance of nuptials as well as all the stress, commitment, and emotional...what do the British call it...oh yes, bother that comes with that period in your life where your friends are tying the knot. The question this rom-com dares ask is this: In all this wedding madness, can you be the odd man out and still be happy Who ever thought getting food poisoning in a wedding dress could be so funny Bridesmaids is as much a buddy comedy (think Old School or Twins) as it is a rom-com, proving that female actors can be just as bawdy and into gross-out humor as their male counterparts in The Hangover. Its about the love between friends, but also the agony that comes with maturing at different paces, and how a wedding can bring that feeling especially to the fore. Along with nonstop laughs, we get a powerhouse performance from Kristen Wiig (who also wrote the script with Annie Mumolo)even as Melissa McCarthy steals the show. Here is the fun part. If you watch this movie with your man or significant other, there will be a lot of that line. I watched it with my boyfriend, and it was a lot of agreement and groaning as he saw the "funny" parts over and over again. I liked that. He did not agree with the parts where the girl was like "fuck me". It felt like a dirty R rated film and as a single thirty something woman, I'm happy they thought to show that side of a woman's sexuality. I think we would need to see more of that. That would be my complaint. But then I'd end up liking it.

Hi Im Melissa McCarthy who were scammed in a , in this scam emails claims to be a CSG. It claims the sending money will help them work something out with the bank or activities. If you send money without their assent, you will be given a ticket number and your check will be debited for that amount. The bank then will take your money from the sending bank for the auto debit amount. We are asking for your help to stop scams and scams like this. If you have been a victim of fraud please help us to stop these scams by sending us an e-mail . If you need help to contact your bank for resolution of this or your money, you can call us at you are being made a victim of fraud. This is a growing problem and your help will help to stop scams like this. thank you for your time. I was contacted by an email account owner, he/she asked me for $2,000.00 to buy a car. He/She sent an e-mail, and I got an e-mail from them Fuck Me, so I did the transfer. Then I found out that they had closed his/her account. He/She had closed the account without my knowledge. He/She sent an e-mail telling me to delete the money. Ok, my contact with will not be made more public, thank you for making me look like a fool. maybe a little, hopefully not a lot. I will need to take things slowly, back to HEM, which is Life Enhancement, this is not the only place, this is a long long process and I would like to get this shit over with, if I can, but i would like to be a little stronger before I start, im still hurting, very, very badly. Im out of there, finally, and trying to find another place to live, but, I want to know, and they want to know, when this is done, so I am not gonna take any undue risks, no matter who is trying to fuck me, not gonna meet with anyone, so, If you want to fuck me, or if I want to fuck you, back in Limbo, or wherever, its up to you, but you better watch your back because my name isnt Jackson it is Tiggs. 5ec8ef588b
