You can combine the Pencil's inking and erasing with layer-based drawing tools, and you get live brushes that respond as you mess around with them in real time. It's like painting or drawing—only with a stylus. Even after spending more than two weeks upgrading my Macbook Air to the latest Mavericks, it takes at least 30 minutes to render, constrain, extract and process a 12 MP NEF. I get a reasonable 18 minutes of screen time with Lightroom and Adobe Photoshop, and a whole lot less time on a non-Apple machine.
